CRESCENT RULES THE BOARD

Nobles of the Mystic Shrine feast at the Omaha Oasis.

MANY PILGRIMS FROM BURNING SANDS

Ancient Nobles Extend the Glad Hand to a Brave Band Who Had Risked the Dangers of the Desert.

The Commercial club struck its colors early last evening. Its spacious club rooms were captured completely by the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine.

The chairman of the committee having the event in charge were: Entertainment, Noble Robert J. Manning; music, Noble R. W. Breckenridge; decorations, Noble Robert Carleton; toasts and responses, Noble Henry C. Akin; banquet, Noble Henry Hardy.

For some time past the designers of collars have been experimenting with the high-banded turn-down collar in order to overcome the faults that threatened that style with ruin.

TWO LARGE STEAMERS COLLIDE

Florida and George W. Roby Come Together with a Crash.

ONE OF THEM SINKS IN TWELVE MINUTES

Crew All Rescued by the Boat Which Did the Damage—Personal Effects of the Crew and the Cargo All Lost.

PORT HURON, Mich., May 21.—The steamer Florida of the Lackawanna Line, bound from Chicago to Buffalo with grain and merchandise, was sent to the bottom of Lake Huron by collision with the steamer George W. Roby at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, between Middle Island and Presque Isle. The crew of the Florida were all rescued by the Roby, which steamer being badly damaged, turned back, arriving here this morning. It was very foggy at the time of the collision. The two steamers exchanged passes and they had not sighted each other in time to avoid coming together. Captain William Smith, who is in command of the Roby, states that when he first sighted the Florida through the fog he stopped and backed his engines, but the two boats were close together that it was impossible to avoid the crash. The Roby struck the Florida on the starboard side about amidships. A hole twelve feet long and four feet wide was made in the Florida. It was instantly seen that it was a question of minutes before the Florida would go down. The Roby steamed alongside of the doomed boat and took off part of its cargo. The remainder of the crew had instantly lowered the yawl boat and had succeeded in getting free of the sinking steamer. They were picked up subsequently by the Roby. In about twelve minutes after the crash the Florida went to the bottom, sinking stern first and breaking in two about amidships. The Roby was damaged by the collision. It is reported by several steamer men that had passed through. The Roby was badly damaged in the bow and will go into dry dock. So quickly had the Florida been abandoned by its crew that they were unable to save any of their personal belongings. After the collision the Roby, which was bound for Lake Superior with a cargo of lumber, was escorted by the tugboat M. J. Beckler, turned the Roby over to the Y. H. Ketchum. The cargo of the Florida consisted of 50,000 bushels of wheat and 350 tons of lumber. The value of the cargo is estimated at about $60,000. The Florida belonged to the Kildershoe syndicate of Buffalo, but for many years has been under charter to the Lackawanna line. It was built by the Union Dry Dock company of Buffalo in 1889 and had a gross tonnage of 2,100. It was 270 feet long by 40 feet beam. Its value was about $100,000 and was insured for $80,000 with the McCurdy syndicate of Chicago. The place where the collision occurred was the scene of many marine disasters and there is probably a square mile on the bottom of the lake in that region without one or more wrecks of the Florida. The collision occurred at the point where the great highways of lake commerce between Lake Michigan and Lake Superior converge.
